CHILDREN OF ELMER MILLER
AGAINST HIM*Admission Made on Stand by Son, Who Says Father
Threatened Them.*PLANNED TO "FINISH JOB"*This Statement Made, According to Testimony, to Jacob, 16 Years Old,
On Visit of Boy to Jail in Uniontown Story of Crime Is Related.

That his father made the statement after he had been placed in jail in Uniontown that if his children turned against him in the trial for the murder of his wife he would return to their home and "finish the job" was the testimony given this morning in the trial of Elmer E. Miller of Franklin township before Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen in Uniontown by Jacob Miller, 16 years old, a son.

Jacob was on the stand Tuesday and was recalled today. He admitted on cross-examination that he was against his father. He said that on the Tuesday following the murder of his mother at their home near Vanderbilt he visited his father and that Miller said he "expected" the children would be against him, adding that if they were he "would come through the best way he could" and that "when he got home he would finish the job."

The boy testified that he visited his father at a later date and told him that the threat he had made would not "do him any good."

"And you, his son, are endeavoring to see that it doesn't help him?" said counsel for the defense.

"Yes, sir," came the reply.

Elmer Miller, 32 years old, and Ewing, her brother, 20, were also on the stand during the morning. The latter will be questioned when court adjourns at noon.

Ewing was an unwilling witness and it was difficult to get answers from him. Time after time it was necessary to ask him to speak louder so that counsel and the jury could hear. Ewing was at work at Vanderbilt during the day on which his mother was killed. He said there was nothing unusual transpiring when he left at 4:30 o'clock.

Operators Hide Behind a "Smoke Screen" Charge

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Bituminous coal operators who see danger to themselves from anti-trust law enforcement if they confer with the miners' union were said to be setting up a "smoke screen" in statement issued today by the United Mine Workers.

The statement referred to an address by George H. Cushing, managing director of the American Wholesale Coal Association, here yesterday in which the alleged legal dangers were discussed.

"They know this is a frivolous excuse but is the only one they have left," the mine workers' statement said, characterizing Mr. Cushing as being "in a large way the representative of the operators."

"Only recently President Harding announced that the Attorney General Daugherty had given an official opinion that operators and miners would not violate any law of the United States by meeting in joint conference for the purpose of negotiating a new wage agreement," the statement said. President Harding and Secretary of Labor Davis have been unsparing of their denunciation of the operators for their assault on business morals for breaking a valid contract with the miners."

SENATORS CROWD ONE ANOTHER IN EFFORTS
TO SPEAK ON TREATY*One Hour Limit on Individual
Speeches Effective at 3 P. M.
Today's Vote on Friday.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A flood of prepared speeches for and against the Four-Power Pacific Treaty were tossed in the Senate today as the period of unlimited debate came to an end under the unanimous consent agreement which will bring a final ratification vote Friday.

The one hour limit on individual speeches was effective at 3 p. m. today and several senators who had prepared long addresses jostled one another in bidding for recognition in the 11th hour rush of "canned oratory."

The Four-Power arrangement was assailed by Senator La Follette as a scheme of Great Britain and Japan to secure "cooperation and protection of the United States" in their schemes of exploitation and imperialism. He declared it was viewed by both British and Japanese statesmen as merely an extension of the Anglo-Japanese alliance which it abrogates and that in actual practice it would result in binding the United States to support the policies of London and Tokyo.

Rickard was under arrest at the time for assaulting Alice Ruck, 15.

"Isn't it too bad," Sarah quoted Rickard as saying, "that Alice had to tell such lies about me. I am awful sorry for her and wish I could help her."

Continuing, the girl said, "he said we mustn't tell on him because if we did we would be locked up until we were 18 years old and we couldn't visit our friends and have any more good times." Sarah said that after coming out of the park Rickard drove them to an elevated station near their homes.

sentative Says.*BUSINESS HERE GROWS

Supplementing the recent announcement of President Daniel Willard that the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will not contract with outside concerns for repair work of the rail system, unless conditions demand it, H. C. Hartzell, manager of commercial development and personal representative of President Willard, told members of the Veterans' Employees' Association at the Y. M. C. A. here Tuesday night that there is absolutely no truth in reports that such action is contemplated.

Mr. Willard hopes, said Mr. Hartzell, that business will soon return to normal and that every furloughed man will be returned to his former position, whether in the shops or in other departments of the service.

Graduation on the part of the president of the road at the results obtained from the campaign for increased freight business here was expressed. The campaign, Mr. Hartzell said, had resulted in a gain of 2,300 carloads and a substantial increase in the number of passengers carried. The added revenue, he said, was approximately a quarter of a million dollars.

So pleased was Mr. Willard with the results of the effort, said to have been the first attempted by any railroad, that he sent Mr. Hartzell to convey personally his thanks for the cooperation given.

The campaign was conducted by P. J. Harrigan and James Waidley. George W. Sturmer, president of the veterans' association, accompanied Mr. Hartzell, and assured the members of the association that the work accomplished was fully appreciated.

The suspension, the order added, would continue "until terminated by action of the policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America" and until officers of the 3,000 union locals scattered throughout the country have been advised of the committee's action.

Further, the order said in part: "In accordance with district and local agreements, local unions must maintain a sufficient number of men to remain at work to insure the proper care and protection of all mining properties. Pumps, engineers and others necessary to protect the property must be allowed to remain at work. The fullest cooperation must be given mine management in order to safeguard and protect property and under no circumstances should this rule be violated or set aside by local unions."

Been Involved in Uniontown Robbery.*CAUGHT BY B. & O. COPS

Captain R. C. Hedges of the Baltimore & Ohio police last night arrested Andy Baloch, 20 years old, of Uniontown at South Connellsville and turned him over to the city authorities at Uniontown where he is wanted on a charge of robbery. The officer had been asked to locate Baloch, whom the police claim has a bad record, and when arrested the young man had enough guns and ammunition for a small-sized army.

He had a stolen Hudson automobile in his possession when arrested, Captain Hedges said and was operating it without a driver's license. The machine belonged to a man in Uniontown and it was also turned over to the authorities there.

Baloch had been living with Herman Virndell at South Connellsville, the officer said. When arrested a .44 calibre Winchester rifle was found in the machine, together with two revolvers, one a .32 calibre and the other a .38. There was also a signal flashlight in the machine and a large quantity of burglar tools, including a brace and bit, saws and chisels. The burglar outfit was turned over to City Detective Miner of Uniontown and Constable Springer, who came after Baloch. The weapons will be turned over to Sheriff I. L. Shaw.

Legion Campaign
For Jobs Meeting
With Great Success

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 22.—A decrease of about 200,000 in the ranks of unemployed ex-service men was estimated today by Lonnell Balloch, national adjutant of the American Legion. The decrease is due, he said, to the drive for jobs for veterans which the legion is making.

Frederick, Md., was the first town to report 100 per cent employment among the veterans. Adjutant Balloch expressed satisfaction with the results of the first day's drive.

Every community is urged to place local men in jobs first. If there are more than enough for them it is urged that the "floaters" be given work. Flying squads are being organized by some posts. Mr. Balloch said, for the purpose of going out and hunting jobs for ex-service men. Announcement was also made by the legion, that the campaign would continue until every man had a job.

At South Bend, Ind., it was reported that every ex-service man had a job and that there were still about 310 jobs left over. There are still about 500,000 ex-service men who are in need of work, Mr. Balloch said.

There is yet the hope that Governor Spry will commute the sentence of death.

BUILDING PLANS

SALES TAX PLAN
REAL BONUS BILL
STUMBLING BLOCK*Harding Firm for This Method of Raising Money, But
House Against It.*CONGRESS WITHOUT PLAN*Other Than the Highly Objectionable
One of Giving Soldiers Compensation
Certificates Which Must Be Paid at Maturity and by Taxation.

By Mark Sullivan.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—It is sympathy is on the side of Harding in the controversy with some of the Republican leaders of Congress in the bonus controversy, there is good reason for it. The other leaders charge Harding with being vague in his position; but they are enabled to make that charge by the fact that Harding takes more factors into account than they do. To the Republican leaders in Congress the bonus question is the simple one of passing it now, so as to have the effect of fulfilling promises made by many of them, and to create that impression in advance of the coming elections.

Harding's position is that he is for the bonus, but only for such a bonus as will liquidate the obligation to the soldiers, not piecemeal and not by deferred obligations; but in cash so as to get the matter out of the way permanently.

When it comes to paying in cash Harding takes into account the state of the Treasury, and does not countenance any bonus bill unless it carries a method of raising the money by a new form of taxation, in addition to the forms already in use. By this President Harding means a sales tax. It is on this point that the real controversy arises.

The same Republican leaders in Congress who favor the bonus are in most cases also favorable to a sales tax. Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee was one of the original proponents of the sales tax, and has been outspoken in favor of it for more than two years past. But the point lies in the fact that these Republican leaders in the House have not sufficient control over their party to pass the sales tax.

It is this inability of the Republican leaders in Congress to make good in passing the only form of taxation which Harding regards as available for supplying the bonus money that is the real difficulty between the White House and Congress.

Victor Artists Uphold Reputation As Entertainers

Not often is it the lot of Conneltsville music lovers to hear an entertainment of the equal of that of the Victor Artists last night at the High School Auditorium. Every number was good and the audience which filled the auditorium gave evidence of its enjoyment of the program by constant applause and cheering of every number.

Perhaps more laughs were created by Monroe Silver in his "Cohen" monologue than the singing of Henry Burr, Billy Murray, Albert Campbell, John Meyer and Frank Weston and the piano selections by Fred Van Epps provided entertainment of a character to make different the selections of any individual as the star of the company. Frank Hanna showed himself master of the piano. The audience wanted more of his playing than was programmed.

To the average person the concert was far too short, even though it embraced 26 regular numbers, with numerous encores.

Many Attorneys At Conference on Law Enforcement

"The disposition to disregard the prohibition law was first looked upon by the public," Mr. Allen said, with a certain degree of that good-natured tolerance for which Americans are noted. It was really a question of law, as civilization could not be a complete success if it has come to be realized now and more that disregard of law, whatever that law may be, is the chief cause of crime.

CASEY-LEGION GAME TONIGHT WILL HAVE DIRECT BEARING ON FINAL RESULT IN LEAGUE

Class Is Between Old Rivals and Interest Is at High Pitch.

FRAT-CLERKS TO PLAY

By James M. Driscoll
Sporting Editor.

A game which holds the interest of the fans equally as much as did the Casey-St. Vincent clash last Wednesday is the Casey-Legion mix-up scheduled to be the second game in the City League clashes at the Parochial School Hall tonight. The first game will be between the Unity Fraternity and the Baltimore & Ohio Clerks and should also be worth seeing.

The Legion team has been traveling at a fast clip throughout this season, with the exception of the first two games which it lost. Casey was defeated last week for the first time when St. Vincent spoiled its record. A defeat by the Legion tonight will throw Casey into third place and will put St. Vincent at the top of the list. It will be up to the Unity Fraternity to topple this team next Wednesday.

There has been considerable talk among the fans concerning the Legion-Casey game. The former soldiers are not over-confident, but they believe they have every chance. The Caseys are somewhat concerned and will put the best team available on the floor. It is expected Lowmyer, of St. Vincent College, will be here tonight to jump center for the purple and gold team.

Both teams have big men in their line-up and the contest will be one of physical prowess as well as basketball ability. With big things at stake the game will be bitterly fought to the end.

The first clash, between the Baltimore & Ohio Clerks and the Unity Fraternity, is scheduled for 7:45 o'clock. The Frat is out for a victory as it will be necessary to keep the team in the running. If the Frat loses tonight it will stand no chance for a place in the finals.

The largest crowd of the season attended the game last Wednesday and it is expected to be even larger tonight.

SERVICE COMPANY BEATS HOWITZER FIVE; CHAMPIONS

The Howitzer Company basketball team was decisively defeated last evening at Scottdale by the Supply Company's team by the score of 40-15. The Howitzer five went into the game minus its center, Moore, who was suddenly taken ill yesterday and was unable to play.

The game was rough from the start to the finish, each side fighting as hard as it could, but the Howitzers were greatly outweighted and not nearly as tall as the Scottdale team. Hume, who played center for the Howitzers, was greatly off form, securing only one field goal and 11 out of 24 fouls.

The line-up: Service Co.—40. Howitzer Co.—15. Lester F. Evans. Stauffer F. Driscoll. Guest C. Hume. Maloy G. Melnick. Murphy G. Bufano.

Substitution—Struble for Evans. Field goals—Lester 3, Stauffer 4, Guest 2, Murphy 2, Hume, Struble. Four goals—Hume, 11 out of 25; Lester 18 out of 25.

As one fan puts it "the City League is furnishing a high class brand of basketball and it is worth anyone's money to see the games played each Monday and Wednesday.

It is possible for four teams to be tied for first place if the Legion and Unity Frat win tonight, the Casey win on Monday, and the Legion and Unity Fraternity win next Wednesday.

The season's finish promises to be a hot one whatever the results of the games between now and next Wednesday. The Unity Fraternity-St. Vincent game, the last on the schedule, is watched with interest by both local and Leisnering fans.

There is another game being anxiously anticipated by Leisnering and other Dunbar Township fans. It falls on Friday night when Connellsville High School plays the Dunbar Township High outfit at Leisnering.

High School has only three more games on its schedule. One is Friday with Dunbar Township at that place, the next Saturday with the Duquesne University High School and the final one with the Dunbar Township quintet at home on Friday of next week.

Orders have been issued to the American Legion membership to "fall in" for the basketball game at the Parochial Hall tonight. The game has attracted as much attention as the series clashes between these two teams did last year. Only one game is to be played between the teams this season and every fan of either side will be present to root his or her faithful.

Broadrock High School suffered its first defeat of the season last night in the play-off for scholastic honors in

M. E. DEFEATS BAPTIST QUINTET; BAKERS ARE WINNERS OVER FRAT

The Methodists triumphed the Baptists, 38-30, in a hard-fought game at the Baltimore & Ohio Y. M. C. A. last night and the Fayette Bakers won a victory over the Unity Fraternity Reserves, 58-20. The first game was interesting throughout, while in the second the Frat lacked all scoring power.

The M. E.-Baptist game: Methodists—38. Baptists—30. Brown F. T. Ball. Engleka F. Kreger. Leichter C. W. Ball. Edmunds G. Black. Stillwagon G. Long. Field goals—Engleka 7, Brown 5, W. Ball 6, Leichter 2, Stillwagon 2, T. Ball 2, Kreger 2, Black, Long. Foul goals—Brown, 3 out of 6; Engleka, 2 out of 5; Kreger, 6 out of 16. Referee—Wall.

The Baker-Frat line-up: Bakers—58. Reserves—20. Johns F. Wishart. Trump F. Huey. Dennis C. Seaton. Addis G. Raudman. Sopp G. Morton. Field goals—Trump 8, Johns 6, Dennis 4, Addis 3, Sopp 3, Wishart 3, Seaton 2, Huey. Foul goals—Johns, 10 out of 15; Seaton, 8 out of 25. Referee—Wall.

THE SOINSON.

"THE SIGN ON THE DOOR," with Norma Talma, the brilliant star, in the leading role, is the feature picture today at this theatre.

Without doubt this production is the most interesting and brilliant in any yet seen in which Miss Talma plays the leading role. The photography is excellent and the direction of Herbert Bronson is the skilled work of a craftsman.

The acting of Norma is superb. She is seen in the role of Ann Hume, a pretty stenographer who, through no fault of her own, is compromised by her employer's son, Frank Devereaux, in a questionable cafe. She marries "Lafe" Regan, man of wealth and character. Later Devereaux comes back into her life. Regan shoots Devereaux with the fellow's own pistol. He does not know that his wife has witnessed the tragedy. An intensely dramatic situation arises when she is moved by her love for her husband to tell the authorities that she killed Devereaux. The plot has a logical and unexpectedly happy ending.

"The Sign on the Door" was adapted for the screen by Mary Murillo and Herbert Bronson from the stage play of the same name by Channing Pollock. It is a First National attraction.

In the excellent cast supporting Miss Talma are seen Charles Richmond, Lew Cody, David Proctor, Augustus Baifour, Mack Barrie, Helen Weir, Robert Aronow, Marjorie Berry, Paul McAllister, Lew Hendricks and Walter Bussel.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday "The Golden Snare" will be shown.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE GOLDEN GIFT," a Metro picture with Alice Lake, the charming screen star in the stellar role, is the feature picture today and tomorrow.

It is the story of an opera singer who with a young child to support finds herself thrown upon her own resources through the desertion of her husband. She goes to a border dance hall and leaving the child to be taken care of at the old Mission, becomes a famous opera singer. An anced and artistically, the production is above criticism. The picture tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, William Hart will be seen in "O'Malley of the Mounted."

Alverton

ALVERTON, March 22.—The Tart Panthers will meet the Y. M. C. A. Juniors at Youngwood on the "Y" floor at that place this evening at 7:30. J. P. Hardy's orchestra will furnish music for the senior class play to be given at the Scottdale Theatre March 30.

The R. P. B. Society of Alverton held a meeting Friday night and rendered a fine literary program. The young folks turned out in good numbers. The nuptial services to have been held by the Church of God on Sunday evening were postponed until April 2. Joseph Graham of Mount Pleasant spent Sunday afternoon at his home.

THE ORPHEUM.

"THE WILD GOOSE," the feature picture today presents Mary MacLaren, the popular screen star in the stellar role.

To see a motion picture personally directed by Albert Capellani, a delight. This was especially so in the case of "The Wild Goose," his latest Cosmopolitan production for Paramount. The story dealing with the eternal triangle in wedded life, is admirably brought out by this master director, while the intricate, rich appointments and massive settings lacked little to make the production one of the best shown here this season.

From start to finish, the theme of "The Wild Goose," outlining the legend that a wild goose never deserts its mate, is finely developed. The leading characters, a man and wife, finely portrayed by Holmes E. Herbert and Mary MacLaren, stand boldly forth and one watches their marital vicissitudes which nearly approach the tragic, with profound interest. The supporting company is well balanced and artistically, the production is above criticism.

MARY MARIE

By Eleanor H. Porter

Illustrations by R. H. Livingstone

I was in the window seat around the corner of the chimney, reading, and I don't know as she knew I was there. But I was, and I heard. And I've heard other things, too, all this week. I'm to go next Monday, and as it comes nearer the time Mother's letting words and words. She's so unhappy over it. And of course that makes me unhappy, too. But I try not to show it. Only yesterday, when she was crying and hugging me and telling me how awful it was that her little girl should have to suffer, too. I told her not to worry a bit about me, that I wasn't suffering at all. I liked it. It was ever so much more exciting to have her homes instead of one. But she only cried all the more and sobbed, "Oh my baby my baby!"—so nothing I could say seemed to do one little of good.

But I meant it, and I told the truth. I am excited. And I can't help wondering how it's all going to be at Father's. Oh, of course I know it won't be so much fun and I'll have to be "Mary" and all that, but it'll be something different and I always did like different things. Besides, there's Father's love story to watch. Maybe he's found somebody. Maybe he didn't wait a year. Anyhow if he did find somebody I'm sure he wouldn't be so willing to wait as Mother would. You know Nurse Sarah said Father never wanted to wait for anything. That's why he married Mother so quick, in the first place. But if there is somebody, of course I'll find out when I'm there. So that'll be interesting. And anyway, there'll be the girls. I shall have them.

I'll close now, and make this the end of the chapter. It'll be Andersonville next time.

CHAPTER V

When I Am Mary.

Andersonville.

Well, here I am. I've been here two days now, and I guess I'd better write down what's happened so far before I forget it.

First about my leaving Boston. Poor dear Mother did take on dreadfully, and I thought she just wouldn't let me go. She went with me to the junction where I had to change and asked the conductor to look out for me. (As if I needed that—a young lady like me! I'm fourteen now. I had a birthday last week.)

But I thought at the last she just wouldn't let me go, she clung to me and begged me to forgive her for all she'd brought upon me, and said it was a cruel, cruel shame when there were children and people ought to stop and think and remember and be willing to stand anything. And then in the next breath she begged me not to forget her, and now to love Father better than I did her. (As if there was any danger of that!) And to write to her every few minutes.

Then the conductor cried "All aboard!" and the bell rang, and she had to go and leave me. But the last I saw of her she was waving her handkerchief, and smiling the kind of a smile that's worse than crying right out loud. Mother always like that. No matter how bad she feels, at the last minute she comes up bright and smiling and just as brave as can be. I had a wonderful trip to Andersonville. Everybody was very kind to me, and there were lovely things to see out of the window. The conductor came in and spoke to me several times—not the way you would look after a child, but the way a gentleman would tend to a lady. I liked him very much.

There was a young gentleman in the seat in front of me, who was very nice. He looked me a magazine, and brought some candy for me. But I didn't see much more of him for the second time the conductor came in he told me he'd found a nice seat back in the car on the shady side. He noticed the suitcase in where I sat he said (I hadn't noticed it specially). But he picked up my bag and magazine—but I guess he forgot the candy box the nice young gentleman in front of me had put in my window-seat, where it was. I got into my new seat the candy was nowhere, and of course I didn't like to go back for it. But the conductor was very nice and kind, and came in twice again to see if I liked my new seat and of course I said I did. It was very nice and shady and there was a lady and a baby in the next seat and I played with the baby quite a lot.

It was heaps of fun to be grown up and traveling alone. I sat back in my seat and wondered and wondered what the next six months were going to be like. And I wondered too if I'd forgotten how to be "Mary."

"Dear me! How shall I ever remember not to run and skip and laugh loud or sing or ask questions or do anything that Mary wants to do? I thought to myself. And I wondered if Aunt Jane would meet me, and what she would be like. She came once when I was a little girl. Mother said but I didn't remember her.

Well at last we got to Andersonville. John was there, with the ladies and Aunt Jane, too. Of course I knew she must be Aunt Jane because she was with John. The conductor was awfully nice and polite and didn't leave me till he had seen me safe in the hands of Aunt Jane and John. Then he went back to his train and the next minute it had whizzed out of the station and I was alone with the beginning of my next six months.

Then the Conductor Called "All Aboard!" and the Bell Rang and She Had to Go and Leave Me.

Aunt Jane is tall and thin and wears black—not the pretty stylish black, but the kind of black that's black—and a stiff white collar. Her eyes are the kind that says, "I'm surprised at you all the time, and her mouth is the kind that says, "I don't think you're doing very well."

I was pretty sure she didn't like my clothes either. I've since found out she didn't like more of that than I just love that word "anon." And I just knew she disapproved of my hat. But she didn't say anything, not in words—and I was awfully afraid to say "thank you" for the hat, and so I just said, "I didn't suppose I'd be going to school. Why were we going to go to a school? You see I'd forgotten, and I didn't think I'd spoken." She said:

"My! How are you ever going to do that?"

AN INCANDESCENT LIGHT WITHOUT USE OF WIRES IN GLOBE

Produced by Experimenters at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

A SOFT, PLEASING GLOW

Which Does Not Cause Eye Strain Is the Result Still in Experimental Stages.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 22.—A new sort of light, with a white glow, to it and glowing in the dark, is set up in interesting form of special light in the laboratory of the future. Nobody supposes for a moment that our high light globes have been solved. Compared with what the future will bring forth, the present arrangement of wires and bulbs that have to be screwed into their sockets and covered frequently is cumbersome and inefficient. Research work at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has succeeded in producing a light with no wires at all, as the incandescence of a set up by induction where the electric current induces an interval purely by electric energy. To be sure the light is only an experiment and so far is not practical for commercial purposes, but the method has possibilities.

In the research division of the Department of Electricity in the experiments with the light with no wires have been carried to the point where the use has been caused to give out light through no wires have been attached to it. In the ordinary form of electric light the light is produced by an incandescent filament in a globe of glass or other material. In the new type of light, the light is produced by a coil of wire which is heated by the current. The light is produced by the heating of the wire, and the light is produced by the heating of the wire.

State to Plant June Berry Bushes Along Trout Streams To Attract Insects for Food

HARRISBURG, March 22.—To provide natural food for trout in streams flowing through state forests, the Pennsylvania Department of Forestry is preparing to plant along the banks of streams that will attract insects. It has been decided that shrub bushes, commonly called June berry, is the most desirable variety because, during the summer months, it will bloom in the early spring. It is expected the insects will fall into the stream and be eaten by the fish.

John W. Keller, chief of the bureau of silviculture, has announced the department will collect shrub seeds and plant them in state forest nurseries next spring. When they are large enough, the trees will be transplanted from the nurseries to the banks of streams.

MILLER MURDER CASE

Calling her three children to her side and embracing and kissing them, just before they left for school on the morning of the killing, Mrs. Minnie Hawk Miller told them that she would never see them again, it was testified during the trial of Elmer E. Miller, the husband, yesterday. This phase of the testimony was brought out on cross examination of Robert and Jacob Miller, aged nine and 15 years, respectively, who had been on the stand for hours but they had not mentioned this part of the tragedy until called to their attention.

There was scarcely a dry eye in the courtroom when the story of the mother's farewell was related. The defendant, Elmer E. Miller, on trial for the murder of his wife, did not appear to be greatly affected by the story. The children testified that the father was downstairs when the mother called each of her children to her. The husband and father did not hear the parting.

Jacob Miller said his mother had washed blood from an abrasion on her face but that there was still blood on her face and shirtwaist and her waist was also wet with water when the farewell was said.

Aside from this pathetic phase of the testimony, counsel for the defense gathered several loose threads in the testimony of Jacob Miller, who told of several guns being in the room the morning of the alleged murder. The lad said there were seven guns in all in the room, a large rifle on one side of the entrance to his father's room, a shotgun on the other, two .38 calibre revolvers on the mantel, two revolvers on a writing desk and a .38 special in his father's trousers' pocket. Prior to this nothing had been mentioned of the two guns on the writing desk, one of which was an old-fashioned Colt and the other a .22 calibre, the latter being the only one that was not loaded. The old-fashioned gun, the lad said, had three loads in the chamber, the other chambers being empty. In one of the .38 calibre guns on the mantel Jacob said there was a discharged shell.

Jacob Miller testified that while he and Eunice his 12-year-old sister, were out making the cows he heard his father cursing his mother and heard a scuffle on the floor. He said his father said he was tired living with the "Hawks," and was going to put an end to it. When they returned to the house, he said, his mother was carrying the broken dishes to the coal shed and that he and Eunice and Bobby then took the cows to the field. He insisted that his father ordered them to get off to school between 7 and 7:30 o'clock in the morning, but admitted that there were a number of other children at school when they reached there.

Returning home from school about 4:30 o'clock, the witness said, the children went upstairs and changed their clothing without seeing their parents and proceeded with the chores. About 5 o'clock, Ewing returned home and, suspicious that something was wrong, started for Vanderbilt to get an officer. Later while standing in the yard he said he heard his father calling him to get him a drink. He took the water in but his father did not drink it and then requested him to light the lamp and take Eunice and Robert from the room.

At this time, the witness said, he saw his mother lying on the floor in his father's room and his father lying on the bed with but an outer shirt on. Neighbors were notified who came to the house but did not stay long in the room. He said his father appeared to be having a fit at this time which frightened them away. A physician and undertaker arrived later, the boy said.

On the Tuesday prior to the killing, Jacob said his father went to wash his hands and there was no soap, whereupon he remarked to Mrs. Miller: "Where is the soap?" He said his mother had told his father to get some soap and other articles at the store several days before and he had not procured them and he replied, "You're always wanting something. Some day I'll give you something you do want."

He continued his remarks to his wife, Jacob said, by asserting "You'll kill you in a week and perhaps in less time than a week." He said his father had abused his mother on various occasions, beat her with a broomstick, chair, and a fist, etc. Jacob testified that he was in his room facing house with three rooms on the first floor and two on the second. On the first floor, the boy said, was his father's bedroom, another bedroom occupied by his mother. He and his brother Ewing slept in one of the rooms upstairs and the other room upstairs was occupied by his brother Clayton when he was at home. He said his father and mother had not occupied the same sleeping room as long as he could remember.

STORE NEWS

Was Ever This Store Quite So Interesting As Now?

Years Haven't Seen Such Suits and Coats as These at $25

And if $25 can buy so becoming, so stylish and so well tailored a garment, think—those of you who need not watch your purse too closely—how utterly ravishing must be the creations that appear at a slightly higher price.

Wright-Metzler Apparel Sections have long been recognized as the Fashion Center of Connellsville. And never have they been better equipped to satisfy every taste and every purse than they are at the present moment. Make your visit today.

Suits at $25 Are Winsome Things!

Winsome for a myriad of reasons—for their style, their tailoring, their well-turned buttonholes, their lining. More particularly for their price.

First come strictly tailored tailcoats in navy blue tuxedo—a type of garment that becomes nearly every type of figure. One has the palat jacket that Paris introduced this Spring.

Tweed Suits at $25 have interesting variations that leave no two suits alike. And even at this low price they are remarkable for two things—Quality and Style.

Gaze Marvel Tissue Gingham have a silken finish that endures them to every needleworker's heart. They come in an unbounded variety of checks and plaids in just about every color and are priced 65c per yard.

Bradloch Gingham at 45c yd. are ideal for children's dresses and for rompers as well as for you yourself to wear at the festivities of Summer.

Glencoy Zephyr Gingham come in a finer, better finished weave at 75c per yard.

Serpentine Crepe is a new ripple surfaced fabric, that will win for itself a high place in the world of Sports Wear.

$25 Coats Are a Revelation

Polaire is a soft, refined material capable of subtle color gradations throughout a wide range of tans, that appears often in coats at $25.

Another favorite is Tweed—either in the pepper and salt weave of Yesterday or the delicate pastel tints that have just been introduced.

In either case the outstanding feature of these $25 coats is Value.

The Mode itself has two interpretations. The first a boxy model with a swagger, military air—square even as to pockets. The second a kindly silhouette with lines that flow down one's figure. Either is charming!

Wash Goods Are Ready to Become Bright Summery Dresses

Plain Windsor pattern comes in orchid, yellow and pink, 30 inches wide and 35c yard. Serpentine Japanese Crepe features flower patterns on light backgrounds at the same price.

La Chine is a quality printed muslin that strikes a new note for Spring and Summer. It is 36 in. wide and priced 60c yard.

Kyrie Cloth is a well dyed and well finished sating that appeals to the economical. 32 in. wide and 20c yard.—Main Floor

There isn't a department—there isn't a counter that hasn't its bit of Springtime news to tell and its quota of Springtime things to show.

And how enthusiastic you will be when you have seen them!

Never were there such delicate and becoming colors, such piquant modes and such an almost infinite variety of accessories to choose from.

Over and above all this it is with a feeling of tremendous satisfaction that we go among the merchandise and see how fair all the prices are now—how extremely low they are this Spring when compared with what they have been.

That is why it is vastly more pleasant to "keep store" this year than it has been for some years past. The lower prices are seen everywhere throughout this building.

And in addition there are these four major store events to heighten an already all-absorbing interest.
